
How might we ensure users that the source of recommendation is trustworthy?
let the users view what their friends are reading Recommend the new books written by their favorite author Invite their favorite author to recommend books Recommend books in similar styles to the user Gather the data of readers with similar interests, and recommend their reading list to the user Invite some experienced book reviewers to recommend the book
How might we ensure users it is worth spending their time reading a book?
Include reviews from people who have read the book short reviews where others can click agree or disagree Let users read the first 5-10 pages
Let users read a portion of selected chapters Showing what the celebrities have read the book
If the book has been adpated to a movie/show, can recommend it to the user with a guarantee of the quality of content Ratings from a large amount of people
Top sellers
How might we let users better digest what they are reading?
fact checker enable highlighting functions in the reader background stories of the book enable comment functions in the reader save users comments in the book export users comments to external notebook be able to see others comments on specific paragraphs or sentences How might we help users connect with other readers?
forums interest groups posts discussion thread recommend people who are reading similar books as the user add their friends who are book lovers able to create groups with friends to share updates of books reply to others' reviews or comments mailbox system

How might we ensure users that the source of recommendation is trustworthy?
provide the data about credentials of the recommender New books recommendations from the people that users are following Recommend books from users' friends Awards if their friends read the books users recommended
How might we ensure users it is worth spending their time reading a book?
Link with other platforms to recommend the book multi-media to briefly introduce the content of the book Connect with local libraries
Let users to select a portion of the book to read Quick quotes of recommendation Create a matching matrix to calculate the chances in percentage of whether users will like the book Top sellers in categories
How might we let users better digest what they are reading?
whiteboard function for users to write and draw immediate checker by linking a search icon to search the internet let other users to paste any background knowledge with the text provide translator showcase the book in multiple languages Remind the users where they left create a reading plan for a specific time frame How might we help users connect with other readers?
link with other platforms youtube
reddit Export the reviews as posters Export the quote as a bookmark Enable the share to social media function
Be able to see the progress of others' reading miro